

Journal Inquiry Responsibility: GL Inquiry (Secured)

11/26/12

A journal inquiry will allow you to view all journal entry batches for actual, budgets, or encumbrances. A user can query on a variety of search criteria including the batch name, journal name, source, category, period, and posting status. Although the responsibility is secured, the form is unsecured – can see all accounts queried in journal.

Select GL Inquiry (Secured) responsibility. Double click on Inquiry; Double click on Journal Find Journals window

In the Find Journals window, click in the Batch field and type in a percent (%), a portion of the batch naming convention of the journal creator, and another percent %. e.g. %1001.bam%

Note: You may narrow your query results by adding more search criteria. If you wanted to see only unposted journals, you would need to click in the Posting field and the List of Values (LOV) Button [] will appear. Select unposted. Add the period whenever possible.

Click on [More] for additional fields you can use to refine your query. To hide these extra fields, click on [Less].

Click on [Find]

BEN Financials will return a list of journal batches that meet your selection criteria. Select a batch and click on [Review Journal] to see the transactions for the journal queried.

Line	Account	Debit (USD)	Credit (USD)	Description
10	870-8712-1-000000-5249-7450-0000		16.36	Reallocate supplies from 5249 to 5220
20	870-8712-1-000000-5220-7450-0000	16.36		Reallocate supplies from 5249 to 5220

Querying within the Line Block

Rather than scrolling through all the journal lines to find a particular transaction, you can query on debit/credit amounts, account number, etc. To perform a search within the line block, place your cursor in the first line and click on View>Find.

Enter your search criteria and click on [Find]. Now your journal only reflects the lines which matched your criteria.

After you run a query, you can reopen the Find Journals window by selecting the View>Find from the menu or clicking on the search icon
