Good Morning, Senior Business Administrators,

Amy Miller has announced her intention to retire from Penn on July 3, 2025. Amy has been an integral part of our organization since joining ISC in 1997 as a member of the organization then known as Data Administration. Over the years, Amy has held a progression of roles and responsibilities and demonstrated unparalleled dedication, expertise, and leadership, contributing significantly to the evolution and success of Penn's Data Warehouse and administrative analytics initiatives. Through her steadfast commitment, Amy has ensured that data and information became critical resources for clients across campus, empowering informed decision-making and fostering innovation. Colleagues and stakeholders benefited from Amy's insights, collaborative spirit, and unwavering focus on excellence.

As Amy embarks on her next chapter, we celebrate her positive impact on every person and project she touched. She is tremendously proud of the highly talented data analysts on her AIS Enterprise Information & Analytics team. She is very grateful for their partnership - and that of all her ISC colleagues and School/Center partners - over many years.

Amy loves exploring the outdoors, reading, and being with family, and she looks forward to doing much more of all of that in the future as she enjoys her retirement.

Over the next several months, we will work closely with Amy to ensure a smooth transition as we prepare for her retirement.

With sincere and most profound appreciation,
Rosey Nissley
